

I have no objections to the concept of digital copyright protection for TV. However, I am concerned, that without sufficient protection, the consumer will be deprived of fair use. I believe that fair use should allow the consumer to view or listen to a protected work any way they want, and on whatever device they choose.